

Peter Reaven, MD
Professor of Clinical Medicine
University of Arizona
Phoenix, Arizona

Peter Reaven, MD, is a Professor of Clinical Medicine at the University of Arizona, an Adjunct Research Professor in the School of Life Sciences at Arizona State University, and a staff endocrinologist at the Carl T Hayden VA Medical Center, all in Arizona.

Dr Reaven earned his medical degree from the University of Chicago. He then completed a residency in internal medicine at the University of California San Diego, Department of Medicine where he also performed his fellowship training in metabolism, endocrinology, metabolism and nutrition. He remained at University of California San Diego on the Endocrine faculty until moving to Arizona.

Dr Reaven has an extensive research portfolio that ranges from basic laboratory research to large clinical trials in the areas of diabetes and cardiovascular disease. He has held many leadership and advisory positions in scientific organizations such as the American Diabetes Association. He also serves on study sections for the National Institutes of Health and the American Heart Association grant review committees. Dr Reaven has served as reviewer and editor for numerous journals in the area of diabetes, metabolism, and atherosclerosis.